Hamburg, 25th May 2023

From now on, the products of Prof. Dr. Steinkraus will provide a new kind of feel-good experience for the skin on the 6th floor of The Fontenay. This is the first time that the product range of the Hamburg dermatologist is being offered in a hotel spa in Germany and joins a sophisticated and highly qualified application partnership that the Fontenay Spa already holds with the products of La Biothétique© at the Außenalster.

"We are very pleased to have found in Prof. Dr. Steinkraus an effective, medically based cosmetic line without questionable ingredients. Moreover, it is a partner who, just like us, cares about the preservation of natural resources," says Marie-Chantal Wüstefeld, Spa Manager at Fontenay Spa.

Under the maxim "Bridging Nature and Science", Prof. Dr. Steinkraus combines caring and protective active ingredients into a unique active complex called "TetCode4©". The line is committed to the "Clean Beauty" concept, which ensures the added value of this active care for the skin on both the product and development levels. The skincare line is free of perfume, silicone oils, acrylates, microplastics, parabens and mineral oils.

"With excellent ingredients and a particularly high level of compatibility, the concept represents effective care for all skin types and ages. The ideals of our modern care concept fit excellently with the high quality standards and contemporary philosophy of The Fontenay Hotel," says Prof. Dr. Volker Steinkraus, Managing Director of Prof. Steinkraus Research Laboratories GmbH.

It took Prof. Dr. Steinkraus 40 years in dermatology to make his expertise, his spirit of research and his fascination for modern and effective skin care series publicly available. His skin care series is based on the latest scientific findings and effective concepts.

Guests of the Fontenay Spa enjoy the Steinkraus "TetCode4©" skincare series during the facial treatments "Maritim Infusion Facial", "Pure Glow Facial" and "Rejuvenation Facial".
